A hands-on owner of a family sanitation business. I plan field work, keep specialist vehicles in service and train technicians on site. Ten years directing a supermarket gave me a practical grounding in people, stock, margins and daily decisions.

SANITATION AND FIELD SERVICES

Owner and Head of Operations · AMV

January 2023 – present

Runs a family sanitation company and stays active in the field. Plans interventions and urgent call-outs, matches each crew and vehicle to site access and the job, and makes practical decisions about equipment.

- Maintains and renews specialist vehicles, from vacuum trucks and tanks to crane equipment and sludge dewatering machinery; assesses when a well-kept used machine is the better choice.
- Recruits and trains technicians alongside him on site, passing on both the technical steps and the judgement needed when conditions change.
- Prepares quotations from site visits and works with Céline’s advisory practice on the connection between field records, scheduling and administration.

Driver-operator, then Technical Lead · AMV

April 2010 – January 2023

Serviced septic systems and drainage networks; worked with pumps, camera inspections and dewatering equipment. Progressively took responsibility for coordinating vehicles and crews while remaining an operator.

WHAT HE BRINGS TO A PROJECT

Fleet and equipment Knows the strengths, condition and maintenance history of the vehicles he uses; evaluates second-hand equipment in practical terms.

Team learning Teaches in pairs on real interventions and makes operating methods usable for new technicians.
